Some answers to questions we have been asking:

- Article 9 was invoked in Alberta and K Division RCMP have received 40-50 resources from E Division (BC).
- One individual was charged under the Critical Infrastructure Defence Act, along with other charges.
- The Province continues to examine all avenues under a variety of Acts, including the Emergency Management Act. This could include legislating tow companies to assist, there is unknown is there is a means to compel them to do so.
- There is no authority for law enforcement to compel tow companies to assist.
- RCMP does not hold contracts with tow companies. Tow companies are normally put on a rotation to ensure fairness to the industry.
- The RCMP have exhausted all inquiries with more than 40 Canadian tow companies. Additionally, cranes and other heavy equipment have been explored.
- The Municipality of Edmonton does have a single tow truck on their fleet that could be an option. All other municipalities contract towing services.
